2017

I HAVE A MESSAGE FOR YOU

Peru as a member of the Council, in category C, will remain firmly committed to the achievement of IMO objectives, to meet global challenges, to ensure the safety of seafarers, to strengthen maritime security and promote protection of the marine ecosystem for the benefit of IMO Member States and the world maritime community.

PEDRO KUCZYNSKI
President of the Republic of Peru

MARITIME TRADITION

The sea and its millennial connection with Peru: the sea has played a decisive role in the development of the ancient Peruvian civilizations. These ancient civilizations affirmed their presence in the Pacific, proving the viability of the navigation to great distances across Open Ocean following the course of the currents and the force of winds, arriving to Polynesia.

Inca Tupac Yupanqui: Emperor Inca who led the fleet that arrived to Polinesia (XV Century).
